Technical Devices

Date issued: 1994 02 28

Revision date: 2000 08 01

Policy

Technical devices and services for government employees with disabilities may be provided to the employees, upon request.

Definitions

Technical Device

A piece of equipment that assists an employee with a disability to perform his or her duties more effectively. The equipment is specifically related to the disability and is usually not found in the regular work setting.

Technical Service

Assistance for individuals with disabilities to participate in pre-employment interviews, orientation or training, to maximize performance on the job. Examples of services include sign language interpretation for those with hearing impairments and readers for those with visual impairments.
